□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

□□□

Max Jammer,
Einstein and Religion
(Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1999), 166.

[10] Southgate, Murray, and others. God, Humanity and the Cosmos (Harrisburg: Trinity Press International, 1999), 101-102.

[11] □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□34。

[12] Max Jammer, Einstein and Religion (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1999), 167-8.

[13] Wolfgang Rindler, “Time from Newton to Einstein to Friedman”, KronoScope 1(2001):64

[14] Max Jammer, Einstein and Religion (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1999), 168.

[15] Quentin Smith’s “A New Typology of temporal and atemporal permanence”, Nous 23 (1989): 307-330. □□□□□sempiternality, omnitemporality, everlastingness, eternalness□□□□□□

[16] T.F. Torrance□Space, Time and Incarnation(Edinburgh: T&T Clark, 1997) □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□。

[17] T.F. Torrance, Space, Time and Incarnation (Edinburgh: T&T Clark, 1997), 57.

[18] □□□□□□□□□□□□□「□□□□」□□□□T.F. Torrance, Space, Time and Incarnation (Edinburgh: T&T Clark, 1997), 43-5.

□□□

□□□

□□□